

September 9th, 2107 Claris Club

Panel discussion 2.30pm – 5pm

It's a battle of the brains and who will win out? Human intelligence or artificial intelligence? Man or machine? It's the topic for this year's No Barriers - small Island, big ideas panel discussion.

The panel will be moderated by Damian Christie, broadcaster and journalist. Panelsits are:

Michael Corballis, psychologist and author, who will talk about human intelligence

Mark Sagar, bioengineer and double Oscar winner, will update us on how far artificial intelligence has come.

Kaila Colbin, creative entrepreneur, will talk about the dangers and control of AI

Sir Richard Faull, neuroscientist and academic, who will explore what else the human brain can do

Experts will share indepth knowledge before the panel discussion in a series of breakout sessions:

Breakout Session 1

9.30am – 10.30am

Breakout Session 2

11am – 12 noon

Breakout Session 3 – Using poi for cognitive development

1pm – 2pm

The panel of experts has been brought together by Awana Rural Women, a volunteer group of 28 women on Great Barrier Island. It is a free event, open to residents and visitors alike